Socially Responsible Investment

The HPF invests the pension funds in order to obtain the best possible return with an acceptable risk. In doing so, we ensure that the companies and countries we invest in treat people and the environment well and are managed with integrity.

In 2020 we started reporting on the carbon emissions of the companies in which we own shares. In addition to CO2 emissions, water consumption and the human rights score of the shares in developed countries have also been mapped. Because we are going to measure, we are now able to be accountable for the consequences of our investment choices.
